

GREYLOCK CAPITAL HIRES CHRISTOPHER TACKNEY AS MANAGING DIRECTOR, HEAD OF TRADING

NEW YORK – 19 May 2014 – Greylock Capital Management, LLC (“Greylock Capital”) announced today that Christopher Tackney, CFA, has joined Greylock Capital as Managing Director, Head of Trading. In his new role, Mr. Tackney is responsible for trading sovereign and corporate fixed income securities for the strategy, monitoring the macroeconomic emerging market environment, assessing market technicals, and managing the firm’s trading relationships and credit issues.

Commenting on the appointment, Hans Humes, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Greylock Capital said: “We are excited to welcome Chris to the Greylock Capital team. Chris has a proven track record of success. His investment management experience as well as his expertise in high yield and distressed credits, especially in Asia, will be a strong addition to our team.”

Mr. Tackney previously served as Senior Portfolio Manager for Emerging Market Corporate Bonds at Schroder Investment Management Limited where he was responsible for global emerging market corporate investment spanning the three major emerging market regions (LATAM, EMEA and Asia). Prior to joining Schroders, Mr. Tackney was a trader of Asia sovereign and corporate bonds at Credit Suisse. Before joining Credit Suisse, Mr. Tackney was a portfolio manager at Black River Asset Management in the Emerging Markets Credit Fund. At Black River, Mr. Tackney focused on investment selection, strategic management, and trading of emerging market corporate securities across all emerging market regions. Previously, he worked at BlackRock Advisors and worked for 9 years at TIAA-CREF.
